

Professional Services Premium Consulting Support

All Redis Software subscribers have 24/7 access to our Product Support team with elevated response times for production impacting events. Redis Professional Services consultants provide their consulting services during standard business hours within their regional time zones. However, there are scenarios where our Redis Software customers would like our consultants available during preplanned non-standard business hours to assist with important production events such as new cluster activation, cluster upgrades, data migrations activities and high data traffic periods for consumer-facing applications. This Premium Consulting Support package will ensure that a consultant is available for these events during non-standard business hours. It budgets 8 hours of premium consulting assistance and can be purchased in greater quantities if a longer period of time is needed. These premium consulting support services should be scheduled through our project managers at least two weeks in advance of the production event.
